It is becoming increasingly important that everyone makes plans for the online accounts that they use and the personal photos, videos etc that they contain.

Making plans can help ensure that digital assets are not lost and can help safeguard someone's digital legacy.

Digital assets, include things such as online bank accounts, photos saved online and social media accounts etc.

Digital legacy is what is left online once someone dies.

- If you have a security password or passcode on a mobile phone or any other electronic device, you may want to think about how best to pass on your passwords.
- If you have any social media accounts, you may want to download your photos and videos from them and pass them to a loved one. You may also want to assign administrative access of your social media accounts to someone you trust.
- You may want to make suitable plans for any online subscriptions and accounts you have, such as bank accounts and shopping accounts.
- You may wish to store any images or videos from your electronic devices with friends or family members.

Further information and guidance can be found at www.DigitalLegacyAssociation.org – select the 'For the public' tab.

Type of accounts you may want to consider:

Online financial accounts:

Current accounts
Savings accounts
Credit cards
Loans
Paypal

Bills:

Mortgage
Water rates
Gas & electric
Council tax
Life insurance
TV licence

Online shopping:

Auction sites - Ebay
Store & loyalty cards
Betting & gaming – national lottery
Online store credit – Next directory

Communication platforms:

Facebook
Instagram
X (Twitter)
LinkedIn
WhatsApp
Email account
YouTube

Entertainment & lifestyle:

Music – iTunes, Apple music, Spotify
File storage - iCloud
Online dating accounts
Entertainment – Netflix, Disney Plus, Amazon Prime
Photo sharing apps and personal blogs

Use the above examples of popular social media, email, and online accounts to create a list of your own. Do not forget to include accounts you have opened in the past but are now inactive.

If you have a full list of your online affairs, you can then record your wishes for each account.

Even if you decide not to leave any detailed instructions, having a simple list like this will help your executor and digital executor know which companies to contact when the time comes.

Digital legacy plan template

Use the following template as a guide to record your digital wishes and give instructions on what you would like to happen to those accounts after death.

Do not forget to ask or tell people of their role as Digital Executor.

Store the document safely and let your executor know where to find it.

Setting out your digital wishes in this way can ensure that your executor and digital executor will have the information required to action your wishes.

Remember, to be recognised in law, your digital wishes should be included in your Will.

Do not complete this template unless you are happy to do so, this should be your decision.

If you feel information has been shared with anybody other than your identified executor please take advice and necessary action to secure your accounts.
