

Southport & Ormskirk Hospital
NHS Trust NHS
'providing safe, clean and friendly care'

ADVICE CARD

MICROSCOPIC HAEMATURIA ADVICE

Author: J. Norbury
March 2016

ACCIDENT & EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT
Southport & Formby District General Hospital
Town Lane, Kew, Southport, PR8 6PN.
Telephone: (01704) 704437 Nurses Station

Information For Patients With Microscopic Haematuria

Advice for patients with non visible blood in urine

During your visit to the emergency department it was found that you had a very small trace a blood in your urine only detectable by a special test.

This can be normal or due to a slight infection. You may have been given some antibiotics by the doctor who assessed you if they thought you had an infection.

Please arrange to have your urine re-tested at your GP's surgery in about 2 week's time. This is to make sure that the trace of blood has settled down.

If the trace of blood persists your GP may arrange some further tests.

Please retain this card for future reference.

Accident Advice Helpline

If you've been injured in an accident, call our FREE helpline for legal advice on making a compensation claim.

- Outstanding legal expertise
- Proven track record of success
- Specialist no win no fee personal injury solicitors
- Recommended by the Legal 500

www.freeclaim.co.uk

*Subject to our usual terms.
Freeclaim is a trading name of Freeclaim Services Limited.*

Call 24 hrs for confidential advice after an accident and help on making a claim

0800 612 7159