Advice About Glue

The "glue" that has been used to treat your cut is medical glue and is made especially to treat cuts.

You should keep the wound dry for 5 days or until advised by the doctor.

If you have a dressing on top of your cut you should leave it on for 2 days.

The glue will form a scab; this will go away when you start washing the area.

Do not pick your cut.

Scar Advice

You are likely to be left with a scar.

2 weeks after the wound has healed gentle scar massage will help break down the scar tissue and reduce long term scarring.

Scars can take a year or more to fully heal.

Seeking Further Help

If you have worries about the cut or:

- It becomes red or swollen.

- There is pus or blood coming out of the wound.

- The wound opens up again.

- The wound becomes very painful.

Please return for further assessment.
